WASHINGTON.

Blaine Rises to Explain—A Western Senator's Opinion.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Ex-Secretary Blaine's published defense of his South American policy has been the subject of considerable comment and criticism among the Republican members of Congress. A prominent western Senator remarked: "Blaine's policy as to South America was outrageous; that it was like an overgrown man threatening a child with violence without any provocation." Another Western Senator, hitherto a pronounced Blaine man said: "This has undoubtedly hurt Blaine considerably." Blaine's friend's are indulged in to a considerable extent here and in Washington because it is supposed it is popular with the powers that be. But Blaine's strength is among the people and they will sustain him.

Fishermen Drowned.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—A special from St. Petersburg says: While the fleet of fishing vessels were engaged at the mouth of the Volga near Astrakhan a hurricane, which came up very suddenly, broke the ice and destroyed all the boats. Welch, a lawyer, situated a few feet from where they were taken. A fellow named Thomas, who had an office with Welch, sold three pieces of silk last Saturday at Albion which were identified. This set the officers to work, and they captured the goods. Thomas has fled. Welch is in jail.

Nomination Withdrawn.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The President to-day withdrew the nomination of Henry B. Nichols to be Postmaster at Norfolk, Va.

COLTON ITEMS.

Semi-Tropic, Jan. 28th.
Two car loads of raisins, one for Topeka, Kansas, and one for Deming, N. M., were shipped from this depot during the week.

Colton is filling up so fast and room growing so scarce that the Peris's surveying party were obliged to move on to San Bernardino to find camping room.

From present indications it looks as though the depot for the California Southern Railroad would be situated about one block west of the Semi-Tropic office.

The California Railroad is now located as far as Colton, and graders will be put on between this place and Box Springs next week. The work will not be carried beyond this point for some time to come; some say for a year or more. We understand that Peris's surveying party will be disbanded immediately, the railroad company having no further need of their services.

YUMA A. T. ITEMS.

[Free Press, Jan. 28.]
There is a general activity in town among the citizens planting trees and building new fences.

The citizens of Tucson are taking steps to project a new railroad to the head of the gulf of California, to be called the Tucson and Gulf of California Railroad Company. An incorporation will be formed with a capital stock of $3,000,000 of which $335,000 has been already subscribed.

SANTA ANA CULLINGS.

[Standard, 28th.]
The Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company has leased for ten years five acres of land near the company's tunnel, some ten miles from Santa Ana, to Dillon & Co., who will at once commence the erection of a gristmill, three stories high to cost $8,000.

Since the beginning of the shipping season—Nov. 19th—there have been shipped from Santa Ana, by rail, up to and including the 28th of January, 5,387 boxes of oranges. About 200 oranges average size are contained in one box.

A NEW YORK FIRE.

Newspaper Row the Scene of a Terrible Conflagration.

The World, Observer, Turf, Field and Farm, Scientific American, S. M. Pettigill, and Others Victims.

Associated Press Dispatches.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The fire reported as breaking out in the Times office originated in the building formerly occupied by the New York World in the same block with the Times building, but separated from it by an intervening building. Strenuous efforts are being made to save the Times, but the fire is spreading rapidly and it is feared cannot be controlled short of the Times office corner. There is an unconfirmed rumor of the loss of several lives. Ambulances are on the spot. There is a slight snow falling, but the air is dry and crisp with a light breeze from the north, which increases the difficulty of controlling the fire. The block in which the fire is burning is an irregular shaped gore with the building formerly occupied by the World on its southeast corner and the Times building occupying the entire northern angle of the gore. The Tribune office is diagonally across Nassau street from the Times office, and the Sun office is on the upper corner of the same block with the Tribune. The fire has been burning fiercely for an hour, taking hold in top buildings and sending up large masses of flames.

Irenus Prime sent the following note to the Associated Press: The New York Observer has been burned out and this week's issue will be delayed. The Observer office was at 37 Park Row, in the old World building. There were a large number of offices, stores and advertising agencies. In that and adjoining offices there were a number of women employed, and one woman fell or leaped from the roof over Pettigill's advertising office and was killed. Rumors are current that another woman is being burned in the offices, but these cannot be verified. The pecuniary loss will be very great, both to the buildings and stock in the stores including the wholesale supply of rubber, machinery, etc.

At 2 o'clock the southern gore is a mass of ruins, but it is now thought the Times will be saved, though the danger is not over.

At the Times office the flames are raging fiercely, and no doubt the building will be a total loss.

Three women ran on the roof and received very serious injuries. Several men jumped from the roof but were caught in the telegraph wires and hung suspended in mid-air. The wires were cut and the men rescued without injury. One girl jumped from a five-story window and was caught on a piece of stretched canvas. It is almost impossible to estimate the loss but it is thought it will EXCEED 1,000,000.

The Times building is saved, but is considerably damaged. The flames are now confined to Beekman street and Park Row—the corner of the block. It is stated that four bodies were recovered in Nassau street of persons killed by jumping from the windows. It is feared that the loss of life will be heavier than was at first believed. The building was crowded with employees and very few could have escaped by the stairways. An old gray haired woman was seen in the fourth story of the World's building appealing for help. Her lips were seen to move but her voice could not be heard. All who saw her were horror stricken. The flames raged about her person, igniting her hair and clothing. She fell back into the flames and was not seen again. A young girl, wearing a blue dress, who was cut off from the stairs, ran to the fourth-story window on the Park Row side and stood hesitatingly while the flames and

SMOKE ENCHAINED HER.

"Jump, jump," shouted the spectators. Casting a frightened look below she threw herself out and fell on the pavement. When picked up she was extinct, her head had been crushed beyond recognition. A few minutes later a negro woman appeared at the third-story window of the World office on the Park Row side and also jumped to the sidewalk. She was badly injured and taken to the Chamber's Street Hospital. Several men and women saved themselves by leaping from the windows in Nassau street. When the woman who was killed jumped from the window, there were two men hanging from the window sill by their finger ends. The ladders were too short to reach them and they were saved by the firemen mounting on one another's shoulders and the men let themselves down by their aid. The scenes of the fire when the occupants on the upper floors were making their escape were often exciting and touching.

One woman and two men were seen at a window of the building, and in a few moments

DISAPPEARED IN THE FLAMES.

It is certain they have perished. A score of men stretched a blanket under the windows on Park Row, and some were saved who were shut off from stairs. Others refused to jump and were taken down by ladders. One woman sprang out and went through the blanket. A girl stepped from a window in Beekman street at the call of a fireman, but was unable to reach him, when he held out his hand on which she stepped and was safely lowered. A man who ventured too far into the theater alley toward the burning building was overcome by the smoke, but was dragged to a place of safety. There were several instances of firemen being temporarily

OVERCOME BY THE SMOKE.

But all recovered. The Turf, Field and Farm occupied a portion of the burned building, and had the finest sporting library in the country, some of the books being very valuable. The library was the property of Col. S. B. Bruce and Lester Bruce. The manuscript for the year's stud book, in process of compilation, was destroyed. The loss of the concern is put at $50,000. The loss of the firm of S. M. Pettigill & Co., advertising agents, is estimated at $200,000. One man who escaped says two men, Steel and Brown, whom he left behind him in the burning building, must have perished, and from the

SCREAMS AND CHIEFS.

On the upper floors and hallways he heard as he ran along he fully believes ten or a dozen women and girls were caught and unable to escape. Four or five hundred persons were in the building when the fire began. Several heroic deeds were noticed. The building destroyed was the Potter building, worth $200,000, insured for $75,000. The New York Belting and Packing Company lost $150,000, insured for $100,000; William Wallack, stationer, lost $75,000, insured. The destruction of patents, models, etc., of the scientific American, foot up $100,000.

The loss of life, in the light of information held by the police at four o'clock, promises to be much less than was feared. It is not thought that more than five or six perished.

THE DEMOCRATIC SUBNATIONAL NOMINEE.

Imitating our Democratic contemporaries we deem it not out of place to discuss in advance the probable or possible candidates of the Democratic party in the next campaign. We have, however, but a Hobson's choice as yet, having heard no one mentioned but our General Stoneman of San Gabriel.

Whether this dearth of men who are willing to serve their country is owing to a scarcity of competent material, or is owing to an aversion to being beaten in the race—which is rather a natural quality in man—we do not know, but we opine it may be in part from both reasons, for certain it is there are not many men in the Democratic party of this State to-day who can draw well enough to stand the ghost of a show of winning an election against the vigorous, always victorious Republicans.

And, in truth, it will be a brave man who will enter the lists against any of the many men the Republican nominating convention will be at liberty to draw from. Our party has the fort and are determined to hold it. From their position on the inside, Republicans can dictate the issues of the campaign, and derive such aids as possession of the offices always give. Having worked their way in successfully, present incumbents know well how to trim their sails for a second trip should they be so minded to attempt a re-election, or they may turn their knowledge to the advantage of political friends.

Fortunately for the Republicans there are no dissensions in their ranks. There is nothing to overcome in preparing for their campaign but individual preferences, and as there is little probability that any one will be nominated who does not enjoy the general confidence of the party, there will not in any probability be any rupture, or coldness, even to endanger success.

We have noticed no other name mentioned but that of General Stoneman, as before remarked—and the source whence the nomination was made was not confessedly Democratic, and whether Mr. Ayers has authority to speak for the Democratic party in the matter of its nominee is questionable. But the editor of the Express is correct in intimating that the General is strong among the people, and we believe that there are many who would break away from party affiliations to vote for him as they did when he was elected as Commissioner. There is a feeling of confidence in the integrity of that gentleman—a confidence he has bought and paid for by the square conduct of a lifetime. But is he strong enough among the people to win the election? is the question. Mr. Ayers, from his standpoint may think so, for with him, undoubtedly, the wish is father to the thought. He doubtless looks upon the coming campaign as another bout in an irrepressible conflict that he fought, bled and died in, so to speak. As General Stoneman has antagonized the railroads as Commissioner and championed the cause of the people, he would be considered by the radicals as the man to lead the column on to another attempt to regulate freights and fares—a work the commission most signally failed in doing, and per- versely refused to attempt to do. But it is much doubted if this known opposition to the corporations will strengthen his cause should he come before the people. And, further, it would be likely to weigh against him in the convention, for policy will suggest that it would be unwise to put forth as a candidate a gentleman who would at once immediately call down upon himself and party the bitter and unrelenting opposition of a powerful corporation that has so far carried its point whenever the object was of enough importance to claim its attention. We shall watch with interest the gathering of the Democratic clans, hoping that he may win the nomination, for if the unwished and unexpected circumstance of a defeat should come to our party it will be a pleasure to know the helm of the ship of state is in the hands of a man almost as good as a Republican.

The San Diego Union asks in the most innocent manner imaginable, why we do not bring our wares to its harbor, instead of trying to perfect the one we already have. It is apparent from the verbiage of the question that the Union has not awoke to the realizing sense that we have right here founded an empire, and are no longer in the leading strings of our grandmothers. It was said of Rome once that all roads lead to her. We are proposing to be similarly situated as to the communications of this country. We gave the Union, a few days since, the figures of our immense commerce by sea—143,340 tons. Now, does it seem reasonable that we should pay a half a million dollars per annum for hauling this over a railroad one hundred and fifty miles or more when we can have it done for one-fourth the money on a road one-seventh the length? The Union must make some better showing or its efforts to kill our asked for appropriation will be of no avail. Its shots so far have been on the boomerang plan, that return to damage the thrower.

The types played havoc with our geography yesterday morning in printing Tejon for Cajon, as intended.

Cupid's Delights During the Month Just Closed.

Below we give a complete list of the marriage licenses placed on record in the County Recorder's office during the month of January, 1882. The matrimonial market seems to have fallen off considerably since the holidays, but now that we are having a good rain and everything points to a prosperous season, we hope to see our young men again take courage and vie with each other as to who shall be the first to put on that yoke which is said to be "worn but as a garland."

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss F. Seymour, who made many friends in Los Angeles during her brief stay last Summer, will arrive on the Orizaba this morning. She expects to stay permanently this time.

Mr. Henry Hoover and party, of Muscatine, Iowa, who are here in the interest of a colonization scheme, returned yesterday from several days' visit to Santa Monica.

Mr. T. S. Harris, of the Santa Ana Standard, called yesterday and reports everything booming in that enterprising burg.

Mr. A. Polson of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, is slowly recovering from party affiliations to vote for him as they did when he was elected as Commissioner. There is a feeling of confidence in the integrity of that gentleman—a confidence he has bought and paid for by the square conduct of a lifetime. But is he strong enough among the people to win the election? is the question. Mr. Ayers, from his standpoint may think so, for with him, undoubtedly, the wish is father to the thought. He doubtless looks upon the coming campaign as another bout in an irrepressible conflict that he fought, bled and died in, so to speak. As General Stoneman has antagonized the railroads as Commissioner and championed the cause of the people, he would be considered by the radicals as the man to lead the column on to another attempt to regulate freights and fares—a work the commission most signally failed in doing, and per- versely refused to attempt to do. But it is much doubted if this known opposition to the corporations will strengthen his cause should he come before the people. And, further, it would be likely to weigh against him in the convention, for policy will suggest that it would be unwise to put forth as a candidate a gentleman who would at once immediately call down upon himself and party the bitter and unrelenting opposition of a powerful corporation that has so far carried its point whenever the object was of enough importance to claim its attention. We shall watch with interest the gathering of the Democratic clans, hoping that he may win the nomination, for if the unwished and unexpected circumstance of a defeat should come to our party it will be a pleasure to know the helm of the ship of state is in the hands of a man almost as good as a Republican.
